

Taking Flight

The Nadine Ramsey Story

Raquel Ramsey and Tricia Aurand

Foreword by Maj. Gen. Jeannie M. Leavitt, USAF

"Taking Flight, Nadine Ramsey's story, is more than the tale of her days as a WASP pilot ferrying high-priority army aircraft across the skies of wartime America. It is the heartfelt account of her family and its collective grit, patriotism, and raw courage. We learn of Nadine's painful recovery from an early plane crash, the healing that allowed her to fly as a WASP, and finally her battle against the recurring pain in later life. A good read and a ton of great research."

Sarah Byrn Rickman, author of The Originals: The Women's Auxiliary Ferrying Squadron of World War II and WASP of the Ferry Command: Women Pilots, Uncommon Deeds

"From humble beginnings, Nadine Ramsey was destined to fly. Chasing planes and opportunities, she honed her skills as a 'hot pilot.' Soon she was in the ranks of the Women's Airforce Service Pilots in World War II and was one of the first women to fly military aircraft. This honest and heartfelt book chronicles the life of a woman who struggled to overcome the barriers of her day, and occasionally brushed the bounds of heaven."

Lisa K. Shapiro, author of No Forgotten Fronts: From Classrooms to Combat

"Unwavering patriotism and unheralded courage define the story of Nadine Ramsey. The authors balance Nadine's sacrifices and achievements with her human foibles and disappointments, presenting to readers of all ages a thoroughly captivating and heroic woman in an era when America desperately needed heroes. A riveting narrative."
